

NEWS

- 563 North Korea Hunkers Down For Harsh Winter (Hyangsan County, NORTH KOREA)
- 563 New Paradigm in Genetics for Cell Survival (Singapore, SINGAPORE)
- 565 Neuroscientists Now Can Read the Mind of a Fly (Chicago, USA)

EDITOR'S CHOICE

- 567 Cancer Biology, SWITZERLAND: Signaling Pathway Suppresses Brain Tumors
- 567 Pharmacy, USA: New Compound Successfully Targets Hard-to-Treat Breast Cancer

PICTURE STATION

- 569 Map of World's Groundwater (USA)

PERSPECTIVE

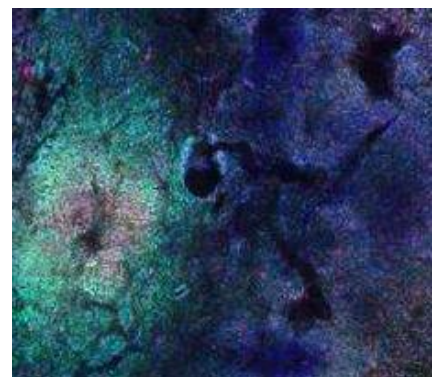

- 570 Medicine: the Past, Present, and Future
By Matthew G. Jacobs, Elizabeth Regel, Maria L. Bolick (USA)

COMMON SCIENCE

- 574 Rare and Beautiful Trees (USA)

page 565

page 567

COVER

Medicine had its beginnings when one savage a little more intelligent than his fellows discovered that a certain condition or a certain manipulation reduced a fracture or dislocation. See page 570.

Image: BASE illustrating group

p-ISSN: 2372-8191

e-ISSN: 2329-5856

DOI: 10.15354/issn.2329-5856